

UD TRUCKS

TESTIMONIAL

All American Road Service LLC

All American Road Service is a towing and road service company serving Columbia, South Carolina since 1997. Robert Bruton, President of All American Road Service and a UD-Certified mechanic, didn't begin the business buying UD Trucks. "We always had International trucks, then, back in 2000, I bought a used UD Truck with 7 – to 800 miles on it as a backup truck," Bruton said. "The International trucks were in the shop so much that the UD ended up running more calls than my regular trucks."

Today, out of the 14 trucks in Bruton's fleet, 11 of them are UD Trucks. Even more outstanding, seven of those trucks, all model year 2005 and newer, have over a million miles on them. "We use our UD Trucks every day," said Bruton. Since All American Trucks is one of the only towing companies with UD Trucks in South Carolina, Bruton said, they often end up loaning their trucks out to other companies when those companies' trucks are stuck in the shop getting maintenance. After borrowing a UD Truck from his company, Bruton said it has led some companies to make the switch.

Drivers for All American Trucks like UD Trucks because of their maneuverability, fuel mileage and the overall dependability. "UD Trucks have a zero turn radius that makes it easy to get in a very tight spot and the drivers are happy they don't have to fill up every day, just every other day or two," Bruton said. "They don't have to worry about their jobs since the truck doesn't break down easily, and if it does, it's fairly easy to fix."
